Toyota dealerships relocating employees stay in the family
Rehiring program aims to keep skilled personnel within automaker's Japan dealer network

Toyota Motor dealerships across the country are offering employees who relocate to get married, care for loved ones or for other reasons a chance to work at other locations – an unusually broad-based effort in labor-scarce Japan to retain experienced hands. Rarely has an organization dealt with employee relocation with this goal in mind.

The Toyota Dealer Association, a Tokyo-based group overseeing 394 operators of dealerships, has created a rehiring support network covering about 130,000 full-fledged workers at some 7,000 locations.

Workers whose circumstances require them to move – say, when their spouse has a job transfer – can choose to receive a list of human resources managers for Toyota dealerships in the part of Japan where they will relocate. Not only will their work experience be taken into account in the rehiring process, but also any network-wide accreditation they have, thus making it easier for them to be rehired at terms similar to their old workplace.

Toyota does not own equity stakes in most of these auto sellers. Until now, dealership employees looking to be hired at another independent outlet would need to go through the entire employment process from scratch.

The program aims to prevent work-ready talent going to competing automakers' dealership networks or other industries. Little had the industry done in the past to retain female employees, who are more likely than men to leave work for marriage or a spouse's job relocation. Women make up more than a tenth of the employees covered by the program.

'It is becoming harder every year to secure workers,' said Kanetaka Hisatsune, head of the Toyota Dealer Association, 'especially young ones.'

Writing (20pts total)

7 Write an email about relocation using the following instructions:

Main Writing Task

Situation

Your company plans to relocate several employees to another country for 12 months. Management wants feedback from staff before making a final decision.

Task

Write an email to the HR department (180–220 words) in which you:

- give your opinion about employee relocation
- explain possible benefits and challenges
- suggest ways the company can support employees
- say whether you would personally accept relocation

Dear HR Team,

I would like to give my opinion about the relocation plan.

I think relocation can be a good opportunity because employees can learn new things, improve their English and meet different people. It can also help to grow professionally.

However, there are some challenges. Moving to another country can be difficult, especially for people with family. Some employees may feel stressed or miss their friends.

I think the company should help employees with accommodation, travel expenses and information about the new country. Language classes could be useful too.

Personally, I am not sure if I would accept relocation. I like new experiences, but moving to another country for 12 months can be difficult for me.

Kind regards,

Fernanda.
