

Student Name: Fabricio Martinez

Final Mark: 97/100

Level: Intermediate

Company: Accenture

Vocabulary (10pts total)

 Complete the sentences using the words below.

Words:

direct - impolite - disrespectful - helpful - formal - informal - polite - respectful - sociable - reserved

TOPIC: Communication Styles at Work

Use each word once only to complete the sentences.

- In professional emails, employees are usually expected to use a more ___ formal_ Correct ___ style of language.
- Tom is very ___ sociable_ Correct ___ and enjoys talking to everyone in the office.
- It is considered ___ impolite_ Correct ___ to interrupt someone while they are speaking in a meeting.
- Good customer service employees should always be friendly and ___ helpful_ Incorrect ___.
- Some managers are very ___ direct_ Correct ___ and say exactly what they think.
- The atmosphere at the company is quite relaxed and ___ informal_ Correct ___.
- Anna is quite ___ reserved_ Correct ___ and does not usually speak much during meetings.

- Employees should remain ___respectful_ Correct ___ even when they disagree with their colleagues.
- His comments were seen as rude and __disrespectful_ Correct ___ by the rest of the team.
- My coworker was very ___helpful_ Correct ___ when I needed assistance with the new software.

9pts

Grammar (20pts total)

2 Complete the story using the correct form of the verbs in brackets. Use the Past Simple, Past Continuous, or Past Perfect. (10pts)

Last Saturday, Emma (1) ___was walking_ Correct ___ (walk) through the park when she (2) ___heard_ Correct ___ (hear) a loud noise. She (3) ___had ___ never ___ seen_ Correct ___ (see) anything like it before. While she (4) ___was looking_ Correct ___ (look) around, a small dog suddenly (5) ___ran_ Correct ___ (run) past her.

The dog's owner (6) ___arrived_ Correct ___ (arrive) a few moments later. He was relieved because the dog (7) ___had ___ already ___ found_ Correct ___ (find) its way back. Emma and the owner (8) ___had talked_ Incorrect ___ (talk) for a few minutes when it suddenly (9) ___started_ Correct ___ (start) to rain. They quickly (10) ___left_ Correct ___ (leave) the park together.

9pts

3 Complete using passive voice. (5pts)

1. Thousands of books ___are published_ every year. (publish – Present Simple Passive) Correct
2. The new bridge ___was opened_ last month. (open – Past Simple Passive) Correct

3. The winners _____ will be announced _____ tomorrow.
(announce – Future Simple Passive) Correct
4. The museum _____ has been renovated _____ recently.
(renovate – Present Perfect Passive) Correct
5. English _____ is spoken _____ in many countries. (speak – Present Simple Passive) Correct

5pts

4 Rewrite the following sentences in reported speech. (5pts)

1. Sarah said, "I can't find my keys."

Shara told me that she couldn't find her keys. Correct

2. Tom asked, "Have you finished your homework yet?"

Tom asked me if I had finished my homework. Correct

3. The teacher said, "Please hand in your projects by Friday."

The teacher told us to hand in our projects by Friday Friday. Correct

4. "We visited Rome last summer." Michael said.

Michael told me that they had visited Rome last summer. Correct

5. My mother said, "Don't forget to call your grandmother tonight."

My mother told me that didnt forget to call my grandmother that night. Incorrect

4pts

Reading (15pts total)

Read the text:

The polar challenge

TV presenter Helen Skelton has never been afraid of a charity challenge. She has run the 78-mile Ultra Marathon in Namibia, and she has kayaked 3,200 kilometres down the Amazon, from Nauta, in Peru, to Almeirim, in Brazil, for the charity Sport Relief, which helps poor and disadvantaged people. Now she has decided to leave the heat of Africa and South America to take part in a polar challenge, a 500-mile ski, kite-ski, and bike journey to the South Pole, the bottom of the world. During the challenge, Helen is writing a blog.

A It's over a month since we arrived in Antarctica, and, if everything goes to plan, we should reach the South Pole late tonight. We've been here so long it's almost become a routine. We camp, get up, ski, camp, get up, ski. I'm wearing a face mask because of the wind and sun. I may look like Darth Vader, but it will help me get there.

B My first night in Antarctica. It's summer here, and the 24-hour daylight is weird. The plan, until 3rd January, is to train before starting our trek. Today was my first full day on cross-country skis, pulling a sledge full of my food, tent, and supplies. It was a nightmare! Still, the scenery was incredible. I'm now going to try out the ice bike for the first time, and we're also going to practise kite-skiing.

C The first day of the trek is over! We managed to make the bikes work! But we need to do a minimum of 25 miles a day and we only managed 15 miles today. After nine hours of cycling (and a lot of pushing), we had to stop, because I was completely exhausted.

D We've only been in Antarctica for four days, but there's been a huge snowstorm for the past 48 hours. It's freezing outside, so we can't train – we've had to stay in the tent. The winds are 70 miles per hour, with a temperature of -15°C and lots of snow. The visibility is terrible, too. However, we're staying warm and morale is still good.

E This morning, the second day of our trek, we set off on the kite-skis, and straight away we were travelling fast. In the first hour, we'd gone eight miles. I thought we could do 60 miles today, but late this afternoon the wind dropped, so we decided to stop and put up camp. But we'd travelled 41 miles – I'm very proud of that. I've only kited a few times before. But I'm trying to complete my challenge in 20 days, and there's still a long way to go...

F We're now only 150 miles from our destination. For the last few days, we've only been using bikes and cross-country skis, not kite-skis. We had a ten-hour day yesterday with the bikes. The morning went well, but then we hit some soft snow and we ended up pushing the bikes for the last six miles. Today, we decided to use skis, but progress has been slow.

G We've completed our 500-mile journey in 18 days! When I talked to Dad on the phone, saying we'd done it, I cried. This is the biggest thing I have ever been part of.

H We're on our way to the halfway checkpoint today, where we can have a rest...and I've been promised lots of hot water so I can have a good wash – my second one since arriving in Antarctica. I have to admit, I smell awful...and my hair is absolutely filthy.

I The training is over and we're starting our 500-mile journey today! We've been cycling, walking, and kiting for ten days. I washed and changed my clothes. I'm not going to get clean clothes again for three weeks!

4 Read Helen's blog entries and number the paragraphs in order 1-9.

Use the highlighted phrases to help you.

A-8 Correct

B-1 Correct

C-4 Correct

D-2 Correct

E-5 Correct

F-7 Correct

G-9 Correct

H-6 Correct

I-3 Correct

5 Read again. In which paragraph does she mention...?

Feeling very emotional

G

	Correct
How beautiful Antarctica is	B Correct
Looking forward to a wash	H Correct
Looking like a science fiction character	A Correct
Not being able to go outside	D Correct
Stopping cycling because she was very tired	C Correct
Stopping using one method of transport	F Correct
Having to wear the same clothes every day	I Correct
Travelling quickly for the first time by	E Correct

15pts

Listening (15pts total)

Type of listening: Interview

6 You're going to listen to an interview with an ex-Champions League football referee from Spain. Listen and choose a, b or c.

1 Why did he want to become a referee?

- a His father was a referee.
- b He liked sport, but wasn't good at it.
- c He always liked the idea. Correct

2 What was the most exciting match he ever refereed?

- a His first professional match.

b He can't choose just one. Correct

c Real Madrid against Barcelona.

3 The worst experience he ever had as a referee was when a player attacked him.

b a woman attacked him. Correct

c a child attacked him.

4 Why does he think there is more cheating in football today?

a Because football is big business. Correct

b Because the referees are worse.

c Because footballers are better at cheating.

5 How does he say footballers often cheat?

a They fall over when no one has touched them. Correct

b They accept money to lose matches.

c They touch the ball with their hands.

15pts

Writing (20pts total)

7 Write about a trip during which something unexpected happened.

Write 120–150 words about what happened.

Paragraph 1: Introduce the trip

Include:

- Where you went.
- Who you went with.
- Why you were there.
- What you had planned to do.

Paragraph 2: Describe the incident

Explain:

- What you were doing when the incident happened.
- What happened next.

- How you reacted.
- What other people were doing.

Paragraph 3: How it ended

Include:

- How the problem was solved.
- What you had learned before the trip ended.
- How you felt afterwards.
- Whether you would take the same trip again.

Grammar Challenge

Use:

- Past Simple to describe completed actions.
- Past Continuous to describe actions in progress when the incident occurred.
- Past Perfect to describe events that happened before the incident.

Useful Expressions

- We had planned to...
- While we were...
- Just as...
- Suddenly...
- By the time...
- After we had...
- Fortunately...
- In the end...
- Looking back,...

History:

Last year, I traveled to the United States with my family for our vacations. We had planned to visit New York and Washington D.C, Before boarding the plane, we were waiting at the airport and talking about our trip.

We had already checked in our luggage, and I thought that everything was ready.

While we were waiting for the plane, I realized that I didn't have my bag. A few minutes later, two police officers came to talk to me, they said that the bag was left alone, so they thought it could be dangerous.

I was very nervous. They asked me some questions and opened the bag to check it, but they only found my clothes and personal things.

After that I explained what had happened, and they understood that it was a mistake.

Finally the problem was solved and I was able to take my flight. I learned that I shouldn't leave my bag alone, especially in an Air-Port airport.

20pts

Speaking (20pts total)

8 Discuss the following questions:

"The Best Trip You've Ever Been On"

Objective

Students practice speaking about past experiences using:

- Past Simple
- Past Continuous
- Past Perfect
- Time expressions
- Sequencing language
- Descriptive adjectives

Questions:

What's the best place you have visited?

Where did you go?

When did you go?

Who did you go with?

How did you travel?

What did you do there?

What was the weather like?

What was the best moment?

Did anything funny or unexpected happen?

Did you buy anything special?

Coherence	5pts
Fluency	5pts
Grammar	5pts
Pronunciation	5pts

20pts

