

Student Name: Sara Esis

Final Mark: 88/100

Level: C1

Company: Accenture

Vocabulary (10pts total) (10 PTS)

1.a. Replace the words / phrases in bold with the adjectives from the list. Two are extra. (1 pt each)

~~"low key"~~ ~~"down to earth"~~ "outspoken" ~~"run of the mill"~~

~~"out of the way"~~ "open minded" "tedious"

1. Sam is very down to earth ✓, which helps in keeping in perspective when there are problems in the office.

2. DDM's new office building is convenient, but it's quite out of the way and doesn't have good transport links. ✓

3. I was outspoken in my criticism of the plan and this offended my hosts. ✓

4. I don't like to attract a lot of attention, so my retirement party was low key. ✓

5. The position they offered was not particularly interesting, but it was run of the mill. ✓

1.b. Complete the text with a suitable phrase from the list. (1 pt each)

~~"stay ahead of"~~ ~~"come up with"~~ ~~"play the part of"~~ ~~"burnt out from"~~ ~~"stand out from"~~

Are You A Patchworker?

Do you have the energy required to complete all of the initial startup tasks? Can you 1. come up with ✓ the ideas? Are you too 2. burnt out from ✓ your current or past job to do the work? Are you willing to put in the time and effort to help you 3. stand out from ✓ the crowd? If there is one thing that being a Patchworker requires to 4. stay ahead of ✓ the game, is the ability to multitask. Can you 5. play the part of ✓ CEO, secretary, accountant and driver all in a single day? More importantly, are you willing to?

Grammar (20pts total) (12 PTS)

2.a. Complete the second sentence so that it has a similar meaning to the first sentence, using the word given. Do not change the word given. (2 pts each)

Example:

The last time he flew a plane was in 1988. (since)

He hasn't _____ 1988.

Answer: flown a plane since

1. None of the phones were left when we got to the shop. (TIME) ✗

By the time he got to the shop ~~We didn't arrive on time to the shop~~, all the phones had been sold.

2. I didn't know it was Carl until he took off his hat. (WHEN) ✓

Only when he took off his hat did I recognize Carl.

3. Don't waste your time asking Bryan to come with us. (WORTH) ✗ It's not worth asking Bryan

~~It's not worth~~ waste your time ~~asking Bryan to come with us.~~

4. Perhaps Jack heard the story from Pippa. (HAVE) ✓

Pippa might have heard the story.

5. Until they fire me as manager here, I'll run the company my way. (LONG) ✓

As long I'm the boss, I'll run the company my way.

2.b. Correct the use of tenses in these sentences below. (2 pts each)

1. We are completing the second phase by the end of April next year. ✓

We are going to complete the second phase by the end of April next year.

2. We have originally hoped to commission Meyer for the redesign, but their books are full until next year. ✓

We had originally hoped to commission Meyer for the redesign, but their books are full until next year.

3. As the project nears completion, I'd like to thank all those who had been working on it and are here today. ✗ As the project nears completion, I'd like to thank all those who have been working on it and are here today.

Since the project it's near to complete, I'd like to thank all those who had been working on it and are here today.

4. I take questions at the end of this presentation, if you don't mind waiting till then. ✓

I will answer questions at the end of this presentation, if you don't mind waiting till then.

5. I wanted to show a short video now, but there's seeming to be some kind of technical fault, so bear with me. ✗ I wanted to show a short video now, but there seems to be some kind of technical fault, so bear with me

~~I would want to show a short video now, but there's seeming to be some kind of technical fault, so bear with me.~~

Reading (15pts total) (14 PTS)

Cultural behaviour in business

Much of today's business is conducted across international borders, and while the majority of the global business community might share the use of English as a common language, the nuances and expectations of business communication might differ greatly from culture to culture. A lack of understanding of the cultural norms and practices of our business acquaintances can result in fair judgement, misunderstandings and breakdowns in communication. Here are three basic areas of differences in the business etiquette around the world that could help us and you in good stead when you next find yourself working with someone from a different culture.

- Addressing someone

When discussing this topic in a training course, a German trainee and a British trainee got into a hot debate about whether it was appropriate for someone with a doctorate to use the corresponding title on their business card. The British trainee maintained that anyone who wasn't a medical doctor expecting to be addressed as 'Dr' was disgustingly pompous and full of themselves. The German trainee, however, argued that the hard work and years of education put into earning that PhD should give them full rights to expect to be addressed as 'Dr'.

This stark difference in opinion over something that could be conceived as minor and thus easily overlooked goes to show that we often attach meaning to even the most mundane practices. When things that we are used to are done differently, it could spark the strongest reactions in us. While many Continental Europeans and Latin Americans prefer to be addressed with a title, for example Mr or Ms and their surname when meeting someone in a business context for the first time, Americans, and increasingly the British, now tend to prefer using their first names. The best thing to do is to listen and observe how your conversation partner addresses you and, if you are still unsure, do not be afraid to ask them how they would like to be addressed.

- Smiling

A famous Russian proverb states that 'a smile without reason is a sign of idiocy' and a so-called 'smile of respect' is seen as insincere and often regarded with suspicion in Russia. Yet in countries like the United States, Australia and Britain, smiling is often interpreted as a sign of openness, friendship and respect, and is frequently used to break the ice. In a piece of research done on smiles across cultures, the researchers found that smiling individuals were considered more intelligent than non-smiling people in countries such as Germany, Switzerland, China and Malaysia. However, in countries like Russia, Japan, South Korea and Iran, pictures of smiling faces were rated as less intelligent than those of non-smiling ones. Meanwhile, in countries like India, where a wide-mouthed smile was associated with dishonesty.

- Eye contact

An American or British person might be looking at their client in the eye to show that they are paying full attention to what is being said, but if that client is from Japan or Korea, they might find the direct eye contact awkward or even disrespectful. In parts of South America and Africa, prolonged eye contact can also be seen as a sign of authority. In the Middle East, eye contact across genders is considered inappropriate, although eye contact within a gender could signify honesty and sincerity.

Having an increased awareness of the possible differences in expectations and behaviour can help us avoid cases of miscommunication, but it is vital that we also remember that cultural stereotypes can be detrimental to building good business relationships. Although national cultures could play a part in shaping the way we behave and think, we are also largely influenced by the region we come from, the communities we associate with, our age and gender, our corporate culture and our individual experiences of the world. The knowledge of the potential differences should therefore be something we keep at the back of our minds, rather than something that we use to pigeonhole the individuals of an entire nation.

3.a. True Or False Or Doesn't Say (1pt each)

1. When doing business internationally, there is a possibility that we might misinterpret what each other is saying even though we are speaking the same language. ✓

a. True

b. False

c. Doesn't say

2. To the German trainee, having a PhD is equivalent to being a medical doctor.

b. True

b. False

c. Doesn't say

3. Sometimes, the smallest things can trigger a huge emotional response in us, especially when they are things we are not used to. ✓

c. True

b. False

c. Doesn't say

4. In the research done on the perceptions of smiles, people from different countries were asked to rate photos of smiling faces and non-smiling ones. ✓

d. True

b. False

c. Doesn't say

5. Making eye contact can be interpreted in different ways in different cultures but is almost always a positive thing. ✓

☒ True

b. Use

c. Doesn't say

3.b. Answer the following questions. (2pt each.)

1. How did the British trainee feel towards the people who wanted to be addressed as 'Dr'?

He didn't like the idea because he thinks that the people who doesn't have medical doctor shouldn't expect to be addressed as 'Dr'. For his perspective that people are disgusting, pompous, and full of themselves.

2. If you are not sure how to address someone, what should you do? ✓

The best thing to do is to listen and observe how my conversation partner addresses me and, if I'm still unsure, do not to be afraid to ask them how they would like to be addressed.

3. Why might there be a misunderstanding if an American smiles at a Russian business associate? ✓

For Russians a smile without reason is seen as insincere and often regarded with suspicion, so it could generate a misunderstanding if an American smiles at Russian business associate.

4. How might the Japanese, South Koreans and Iranians interpret a smiling face? ✓

Insincere.

5. Why do Americans and British people sometimes use eye contact? ✓

To show that they're paying full attention to what is being said.

Listening (15pts total) (15 PTS)

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=3ank52Zi_S0&t=26s

4.a. True or False (1pt each)

1. Martin Luther King Jr. was born in February 1929. ✓

a. True

b. False

2. His father and grandfather were Baptist ministers. ✓

a. True

b. False

3. Martin Luther King Jr. was 15 when he graduated from high school. ✓

a. True

b. False

4. He studied psychology at college. ✓

a. True

b. False

5. The Montgomery Bus Boycott began in 1965. ✓

a. True

b. False

4b. Answer the following questions. (2pt each)

1. Where did Martin Luther King move to after he got married? ✓

Montgomery Alabama

2. How long did the Montgomery bus boycott last for? ✓

381 days

3. What did the US supreme court rule on December 20th 1956? ✓

Segregated buses to be unconstitutional

4. How many times was Martin Luther King Jr. Jailed? ✓

Over 20 times.

5. How many speeches did Martin Luther King Jr. give between 1957 and 1968? ✓

2500

Writing (20pts total) (20 PTS)

Welcon has supplied receptionists and doormen for your company's headquarters for over five years. Recently the standard of service they give has declined sharply. Visitors have complained about rudeness, being kept waiting and being misdirected. Write an email to the company. Minimum of 200 words. You must include:

- The emphasis on the good relation you've had in the past
- Description of the unacceptable behavior of their staff recently.
- The changes that must be made immediately

Hello team,

Hope you're doing well.

I'm contacting you because we're receiving several bad comments and complain about the actual people you're sending as receptionist and doormen in our company. Our employees and visitors communicated to us unacceptable behaviors like rudeness, being kept waiting and being misdirected, the last one and important was the visit to an important client that come to meet our CEO and the doorman misdirected him to the incorrect office with another team, was an uncomfortable moment where we felt very ashamed with the client and needed to reschedule our meeting because we had short time. This type of situationship and behavior is unacceptable to us because it doesn't reflect our values as a company and the respect we show to all the people that are working with us. So, please, since we've been working together for five years with an exceptional service, we don't want to take this situation to another level or extreme, what It is, cancel our contract. We would appreciate it if you could take this email into consideration and make the necessary changes to improve your services. We expect from your side, educate people, kind and well-oriented. The changes must be made immediately, and for this reason we're looking forward to your response and actions.

Speaking (20 questions) (10 minutes)

1. What type of child were you? Were you a naughty child? Quiet child? Clever child?
2. If you have siblings, what kind of children were they?
3. Who did you respect the most in your family when you were a child and why? Did you always listen to that person? Why or why not?
4. Did you behave differently at school versus at home when you were a child? Why or why not?
5. Did you ever get into trouble when you were a kid? What is something you did? What happened?
6. Would you consider yourself a troublemaker as a teenager? Why or why not?
7. When you were younger, were your classmates a good or bad influence? Why?
8. How should parents deal with misbehaviour? Why?
9. What do you think teachers should do with misbehaving children? Why?
10. Actress Julie Walters said, "It seems that when you get to a certain age you almost give yourself permission to misbehave and say what you think. People allow it, with very old people." What do you think about this quote? Do you agree? Why or why not?